HOME GARDENING A FEATURE OF ROYAL SCHOOL EDUCATION

Home gardening is a feature of practical education now being carried on at the Royal School under the direction of Principal Davis. The photograph shows what kind of corn one garden has produced. The Royal School grounds are not large enough to allow extensive agriculture, but Mr. Davis and his pupils make the best use possible of what space they have by developing what might be called experimental or demonstration plots. Perhaps it is well for the children that they do not do all their "farming and gardening" at the school. In order to interest the children in putting theory into practice, each child has a home garden. Whether flowers or vegetables are grown at home rests with the child. What the teachers require is that the child shall report on the progress of the garden. This report is contained in the "home garden book," kept at the school. The perusal of this is very interesting reading, and proves that boys and girls of every race are engaged in "growing things" in some Honolulu home plot from which they gain a lot of excellent experience as well as a good training in industry. Each child enters his or her report in their own handwriting. Frequently the teacher goes over the book, makes inquiries for the cause of failure, offers suggestions and gives praise for the evidences of success. The whole scheme serves to connect the home of the child with the school, and carries to the home a proof of the value of education, connecting the head with the hand. The illustration given is a photograph taken by the Star-Bulletin's staff photographer of a number of ears of corn grown by a Royal School pupil in a home plot.

WAIPAHU SCHOOL CLOSES FOR YEAR

The closing exercises at the Waipahu school took place Friday morning before a large audience of parents and friends of the scholars. The children in their holiday attire were marshalled on the well-kept lawn of the school, and a lengthy program of songs, duets, speeches and part songs was rendered. The tots ably rendered their songs and recitations with clearness and expression, and won much applause from the delighted parents. The songs and folk dances of the middle grades were very well received, the dances being a special feature of the program;

LILUOKALANI SCHOOL ENDS YEAR

Marking the close of the 1912-1913 school year in Honolulu's newest educational institution, exercises were held at the Liluokalani school, Kaimuki, Friday afternoon, which were well attended by the parents and friends of the pupils. The prompt and efficient manner in which each child performed his or her part, proved conclusively that the children are being well trained and the principal and her staff of teachers are to be complimented.

BOARD WILL CELEBRATE ITS JUBILEE

ing of the Hawaiian Board, was held yesterday afternoon, at which time, besides the reading of a number of reports, a number of new members were nominated. The following have been named to serve for three years: C. K. Al, A. C. Alexander, F. C. Atherton, George P. Castle, F. W. Damon, Rev. O. H. Gulick, John Kamanoulu, J. M. Lydgate, Paul Super, Vaughan MacCaughy, Jonathan Nakila, Rev. T. Okamura, Rev. H. H. Parker, J. A. Rath, Rev. F. S. Scudder, C. S. Kimo, W. D. Westervelt. Those proposed for the term which expires in 1914 are Rev. A. S. Baker and Rev. T. Hori. The members of the class whose term expires in 1915 are Rev. R. B. Dodge, Rev. C. G. Burnham and Rev. J. F. Cowan. The Sunday schools and Christian Endeavor societies were also in session yesterday afternoon under the direction of Rev. H. P. Judd, Rev. H. K. Poepe and Rev. S. Kapu.

The session of the Evangelical Association adjourned at 10:30 o'clock this morning to make way for the Sunday School exhibition. Hundreds of children from a score of Sunday schools throughout the islands crowded the church, each school occupying a designated section of the church and flaunting a banner with the name of the school thereon.

Following is the program which will not be completed until this afternoon:

Hymn.
Prayer, Rev. H. P. Poepe.
Reading of notices.
Exhibitions by the following Sunday schools: Kawaiahao, Moanalua, Waihalua, Kaneohe and the Hawaii Association.

Recitations.
Exhibitions by Kaunakapili, Kahuku, Waianae, Ewa, Hauula, Makua, Pohalalo, Japanese Association, Maui Association and Kaula Association.

Short addresses by William H. Rice, Rev. H. K. Poepe, Rev. H. P. Judd, Rev. S. L. Desha.

The Sunday School procession started from the Kawaiahao church at half-past one o'clock and ended at half-past two o'clock. Joseph K. Kanehau, marshal of the day, led the route, which included a march around the palace square. Following the marshal was the Hawaiian band, after which were the superintendents of the different Sunday schools. The members of the fourteen Sunday schools in attendance at the convention formed the body of the procession. Today's session will close with a meeting of the Christian Endeavor Association from half-past two until four o'clock.

Report of Secretary.

In reading his report as corresponding secretary of the Hawaiian Board at the session of the Hawaiian Evangelical association this morning, W. B. Oleson briefly reviewed the early history of the board and spoke of the organizing of the local association because of the withdrawal of the American board from the Hawaiian field. He then handled in a masterly way the close relation of the changing industrial conditions here and the need of wider service with the increasing burdens upon the people who have so loyally contributed to the local missionary enterprise. The great loss in membership and attending circumstances in the churches of the Hawaiian board in the early days of the changed industrial and social conditions in Hawaii, Mr. Oleson attributes to the shifting of the population and the rapid increase of Asiatics who came to work as laborers on the plantations.

In spite of all difficulties that attended the changes in the social and religious life of Hawaii, the church work was steadily developed in the last fifty years; the twenty-four churches are now one hundred and four. There are 3,048 more members than fifty years ago, and this in spite of the well known decrease in the Hawaiian population of the islands. During the last ten years the membership has increased 33 per cent.

The secretary paid a glowing tribute to the Hawaiian missionaries who went to the Marquesas islands, and stated that $112,000 had been expended by Hawaii in that needy field.

The last year has been a highly successful one in the board's work; 452 accessions by confession of faith the records say. The total membership is 8,672.

The one discouraging note in the report was the decrease in the number of the Hawaiian ministers. A special effort must be put forth to get new men into the ministry or else to combine churches in such a way that one man may minister to several congregations.

The difficulty of securing men from China to take oversight of the Chinese work of the board is caused by the tremendous demand for the educated men of that country in the government offices.

Filipino Endeavors.
In the Filipino work Rev. Simon Ygloria, a recent graduate of the Ellinwood Bible Seminary of Manila, has been secured for this island. One hundred and fifty to two hundred Filipinos are attending services held at the immigration station.

The Sunday school movement inaugurated by Rev. Henry P. Judd the last year has brought big results. Larger work is expected in this department this coming year, for Mr. Judd will devote his entire time to Sunday schools of the board.

A marked increase in the benevolences was noted, $14,585 more was given this year than last.

Five ministers of the Hawaiian churches have died during the last twelve months. This is an unusually large number. Mr. Oleson praised

WELCOME IS NOW PLANNED FOR CARTER

committee, when plans for the reception of Mr. Carter were outlined. Word has been received from the latter that he is willing to address the people of Honolulu at a meeting on his return to tell them of the fight in Washington and to encourage them in renewing their efforts to check the proposed legislation on the sugar tariff.

At the meeting this morning it was agreed to hold the monster reception-mass-meeting on the roof garden of the Young Hotel, and merchants will probably be asked to suspend business for an hour or so to the end that all may appear at the gathering, both to listen to the words of Mr. Carter and to take part in the formation of a new campaign against free sugar.

The pup of pessimism will not be present at the meeting. There will be shown a spirit of confidence in the future, a "never say die" sentiment, says Mr. Waldron.

Because of the expected absence of E. Faxon Bishop, president of the chamber of commerce, the meeting will probably be presided over by O. C. Swain of the merchants' association, who will call on several prominent business men of Honolulu to deliver speeches of welcome to Mr. Carter and to express their gratitude for the work he did in Washington for the territory.

Mr. Carter will arrive here on the Manchuria Wednesday morning. The plans for his reception at the dock are not yet complete, but it is probable that he will be taken from the steamer in a launch.

"We wish to make the reception the highest kind of an affair," stated Mr. Waldron this morning. "We feel very grateful to Mr. Carter for what he has done for us. Though he does not return with assurances that there will be no free sugar, he does return after making a strong fight against it."

"While in Washington he was under his own expense. He made the entire trip out of his own purse."

"This is to be a great mass meeting, one which will mark the opening of a new chapter in our fight. We will show no down-in-the-mouth sentiment, but a confidence in the future irrespective of what tariff legislation succeeds."

"We are asking all the business men to co-operate with us in this reception. The larger it is the better."

Others active in the plans for the mass meeting expressed themselves in a like way. They all said that it will mark the opening of a new chapter, and an important one in the struggle for the life of the industry, which they say cannot be destroyed by any act of congress so long as the people maintain their confidence in it.

Their individual work and paid a very high tribute to Professor Alexander who died on February 22.

That there is great need for a thoroughly good training-school for workers was pointed out. Young men should be trained here, the secretary maintained. Helpful suggestions in the ministers' paper, "Ke Kahunaao" and the monthly Bible classes for ministers on the various islands are given the preachers of the churches.

The hope for a large endowment in the near future and the erection of a suitable Hawaiian board building was expressed.

In the last part of the report Mr. Oleson dwelt at length upon the need of the support from the mainland churches through the American Missionary Association. The situation is not clearly understood by the givers in the States; the vital need here of keeping up all departments of the work, the constant demand for enlargement and the reaching of the new peoples that come in as laborers. If the mainland churches once realized the demands in all directions, money would come to Hawaii as it used to come and there would be no need of retrenchment, even in a distressing financial period, that affects the situation locally.

The secretary closed by appealing to his hearers to give a large place to prayer in the life and work of the missions of the territory. "We ought not to lose sight of the part that prayer has had hitherto in the evolution of Hawaii," said Mr. Oleson, nor fail to utilize prayer as our choicest human agency henceforth in accomplishing the will of God in these islands of the sea."

From a celebration standpoint, tomorrow will perhaps be the most important of the seven days of convention. Not only does it mark the fiftieth year of service for the Hawaiian Board of Missions in the territory, but it also marks the fiftieth year of the pastorate of Rev. Henry H. Parker, of the Kawaiahao Church. The day's program follows:

6:15 a. m.—Sunrise Prayer Meeting.
"Telling the Good News," Acts 15:12.
11:00-12:00 a. m.—Anniversary Sermon by Rev. H. H. Parker.

2:00-5:00 p. m.—Jubilee Anniversary of Hawaiian Board. Hon. P. C. Jones, president of the Board, presiding.
Historical Reminiscences, Rev. H. H. Parker.

Historical Address, Rev. W. B. Oleson.
Historical Address, Hon. W. R. Castle.

7:00 p. m.—Christian Endeavor Rally. Leaders: Rev. Akaioka Akana and Hon. D. K. Kapahe.

Monday's program is as follows:
6:15 a. m.—Sunrise Prayer Meeting.
"Continuing in Your Faith," Heb. 3:14.
8:00-9:00 a. m.—Bible Study, "A United Church," I Cor. 1:10. Leaders, Messrs. D. Scudder, Poepe, Hori, Tsui Hing Weng.

9:00-10:30 a. m.—Prayer and Song. Reports from Island Associations.
Report of Statistical Secretary.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Cookery library at Punahou will be open every day during vacation from 8 to 12 m. except holidays.

The trial jurors in the criminal division of the circuit court were excused yesterday until September 2. No jury trials can be held during July and August.

Under the auspices of the Free Kindergarten and Children's Aid Association, a Venetian Carnival will be held at the Outrigger Club, Waikiki, on the evening of Friday, the 10th of October.

The session laws of 1913 appeared in printed, bound form yesterday and are now ready for sale and distribution. They are more voluminous than any previous session acts, the books containing 400 pages.

Aniome Martin Martel, accused of improper relations with a girl under fourteen years of age, entered a plea of guilty in Judge Robinson's court this morning and was sentenced to not less than three years' imprisonment.

U. S. District Attorney R. W. Breckons returns this afternoon to Milo. He will continue his investigation of the Hawaii county graft affair and will also serve in his federal official capacity during the special session of the U. S. district court at that city during July.

Frank Martin, indicted for a statutory offense, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge with the consent of Deputy City and County Attorney Brown this morning and was sentenced to not less than one year nor more than eighteen months at hard labor in Oahu prison.

Mail service for Kaimuki and Manoa sections of Honolulu will begin Tuesday, the local postal authorities have announced. About a month ago notice was given that the service would be opened shortly and all residents were asked to have a mail box placed by their residence. Two letter carriers will be employed in the work.

Louis Martini, accused of adultery, this morning, withdrew his former plea of not guilty, confessed to the crime and on the recommendation of the prosecution was granted clemency, consisting of only one month's servitude, in addition to the five months he already has served in jail awaiting a hearing. He had been indicted by the federal grand jury.

With four teachers appointed by the commissioners of education for the proposed school at Schofield Barracks, the only problem which now remains is that of securing a school house. It is expected that the Army will provide the building so that the work may be started at once, the city to build a more substantial one when the necessary funds become available.

POLICE COURT NOTES

A raid on a Hotel street house brought a delegation of police to the scene last night, and as a result of their descent upon the scene of turbulence, was the signal for a general scamp of a score of inmates. Walter Schlegelsicker and several soldiers were booked at the receiving station, charged with malicious injury.

LAND DRAWING HELD

Chief Clerk Walter Engle, in the land commissioner's office, conducted a land drawing this morning for lots in the Waipahu tract on Kaula, sought by members of the Garden Island Settlement Association. Only seven applicants appeared. They were awarded selection in the following order: 1. Clarence E. French, 2. David G. Wilson, 3. William Wilson, 4. John B. Featherstone, 5. Alice Jeanette Booge, 6. Walter J. Seymour and 7. Annie May Booge.

Each applicant will be permitted to take one, two or three adjoining lots, under the right of purchase lease or the cash freehold agreement method. The lots drawn for are Nos. 100 to 105 and 107 to 121 inclusive. Only members of the Garden Island Settlement Association were permitted to apply for them.

A small boy opened the throttle of a locomotive in a railroad roundhouse at Buffalo, N. Y., and the engine running wild at a speed of 45 miles an hour smashed into a freight train killing two men.

LIEUT. LYMAN INJURED AT PRACTICE

Lieutenant C. K. Lyman, the star polo player of the Fourth Cavalry, will not be able to take part in the game at Schofield Barracks this afternoon, against the Oahu Raiders. Lieutenant Lyman was painfully, though not seriously injured in a practice game a day or so ago, and is now on sick report.

A lofted ball, traveling at high speed, struck Lyman on the knee, putting him practically out of commission for riding. The danger to players from flying polo balls is apt to be underestimated, and it is believed that the accident to Lieutenant Lyman will be a strong argument for the universal wearing of safety helmets. Had the ball which put out the cavalry officer struck him on the head, it might well have resulted in his death, say those who were on the spot at the time.
